Lineage—Two important families bearing the name of Sinclair (or St. Clair) co-existed in the 12th century, distinguished as of Rosslyn, in Midlothian, and of Herdmanstoun, in East Lothian. Though no relationship can be traced between them, the earlier bearers of the title of Lord Sinclair belonged to the former, while the later belong to the last named family.

Sir Henry Sinclair, of Rosslyn, in the time of Robert Bruce, was father of Sir William, who, with his brother John, was killed in Spain v.p., on his way to the East with the heart of his royal master. Sir William's son,

Sir William Sinclair, of Rosslyn, who s. his grandfather, added greatly to the influence of his family by his marriage with Isabella, dau. and co-heir of Malise, Earl of Strathern, Caithness, and Orkney. His son,

Henry Sinclair, acquired, through his mother, the Earldom of Orkney, coupled with conditions of fealty to the King of Norway, which would have made it impossible for him, in time of war, to retain both his Scottish and his Norse possessions. He was s. about 1400 by his son,

Henry, Earl of Orkney, who, by his wife, Egidia, dau. and heir of Sir William Douglas, of Nithsdale (by the Princess Egidia, dau. of Robert II.), had,

William, Earl of Orkney, and afterwards Earl of Caithness, 1st Lord Sinclair, Chancellor of Scotland, who had in 1455 a grant of the Earldom of Caithness, and in 1471 surrendered the Earldom of Orkney to the Crown, getting in its place Dysart, Ravensheugh, and the castle of Ravenscraig, in Fife. He was a lord of parliament as far back as 1449, by the title of Lord Sinclair. He was the founder of the famous collegiate church, now known as Rosslyn Chapel. He m. 1st, Elizabeth, dau. of Archibald, 4th Earl of Douglas, and widow of John Stewart, Earl of Buchan, and of Sir Thomas Stewart (natural son of Alexander, Earl of Mar), by whom he had,

1. William, 2nd Lord Sinclair.
1. Katherine, m. Alexander, Duke of Albany, son of James II., and divorced 1477-8.

He m. 2ndly, Marjory, dau. of Alexander Sutherland, of Dunbeath, by whom he had, with other children, two sons (whose respective seniority has been disputed).

2. William, Earl of Caithness (see that title).
3. Sir Oliver, of Rosslyn.

The Earl of Caithness parted his possessions among the three sons above-named, bestowing merely Newburgh, in Aberdeenshire, on the eldest; the Earldom of Caithness on William, of the second marriage; and Rosslyn and the Fife estates on Sir Oliver. The eldest son,

William Sinclair, 2nd Lord Sinclair, endeavoured to set aside his father's settlement, and succeeded in effecting an arrangement by which Sir Oliver, retaining Rosslyn, made over to him the lands in Fife. He is occasionally designated Lord Sinclair. He d. 1487, having m. Christian, dau. of George, 1st Earl of Rothes, and had a son,

Henry, 3rd Lord Sinclair. In 1488 he had a parliamentary confirmation of his title as Lord Sinclair, as held by his father and grandfather. He m. Margaret, dau. of Patrick, 1st Earl of Bothwell, by whom he had a son, 1. William, 4th lord, and three daus., 1. Katherine, m. Sir David Wemyss, of Wemyss; 2. Helen, m. James, 4th Lord Ogilvy, of Airlie and Jean, m. Alexander, Master of Crawford. His son,

William Sinclair, 4th Lord Sinclair, m. Elizabeth, dau. of William, 3rd Earl Marischal, and widow of Colin, Master of Oliphant, and dying 1570, was s. by his son,

Henry, 5th Lord Sinclair. He m. 1st, Janet, dau. of Patrick, 6th Lord Lindsay, of the Byres, by whom he had, with other issue,

1. James, Master of Sinclair, m. Lady Isabella Leslie, dau. of Andrew, 4th Earl of Rothes, and by her had issue,
   1. Henry, 6th lord.
   2. James, 7th lord.
   3. Patrick, 8th lord.
   1. Margaret, m. William Lord Berriedale.
2. Patrick, ancestor, of the family of Sinclair of Balgreggie, which became extinct in the male line on the death of John Sinclair, of Balgreggie, in 1710, and is represented by Aytoun of Inchdairney.

He m. 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. of William, 7th Lord Forbes, by whom he had, with other issue, a dau.,

1. Elizabeth, m. Sir Duncan Campbell, of Glenorchy.

Lord Sinclair d. in 1601, and was s. by his grandson,

Henry, 6th Lord Sinclair, d.s.p. 1602; and was s. by his brother,

James, 7th Lord Sinclair, d. 1607, and was s. by his brother,

Patrick, 8th Lord Sinclair, m. Margaret, dau. of Sir John Cockburn, of Ormiston, lord justice clerk, and dying in 1615, was s. by his only son,

John Sinclair, 9th Lord Sinclair, m. Lady Mary Wemyss, dau. of John, 1st Earl of Wemyss, by whom he had an only dau. Catherine, Mistress of Sinclair. Having no issue male, he made a settlement of his honours and estate in favour of the sons of his dau., and their issue male, bringing in after them the brothers of his son-in-law, and other strangers in blood. He d. in 1676, aged 66. His dau.,

Catherine Sinclair, Mistress of Sinclair, m. in 1659, John St. Clair, eldest son of Sir John St. Clair, of Herdmandston, by whom she had, with two children who d. unm., a son, Henry, 10th Lord Sinclair. The Mistress of Sinclair d. 1666. Her son,

Henry St. Clair, 10th Lord Sinclair, got, 1 June, 1677, a charter, under the great seal, in terms of the above-mentioned settlement of his grandfather, confirming the honours enjoyed by his predecessors, Lords Sinclair, with the former precedency, to him and the heirs male of his body; which failing to John, his brother-german, and his heirs male; which failing to Robert, George, and Matthew Sinclair, successively brothers-german to the said Sir John of Herdmandston, and the heirs male of their bodies; which all failing, to the said Henry, his nearest heirs male whatsoever.* Henry, 10th Lord Sinclair, was a man of great probity, and honour, and a devoted adherent of the House of Stuart. When he saw, at the Convention of Estates, in 1689, that they were determined to dethrone King James, and settle the crown on the Prince of Orange, he protested against the proceedings and left the house. His lordship m. in 1680, Grizel, dau. of Sir James Cockburn, Bart. of Cockburn, and d. in 1723, leaving issue,

2. James, s. his brother.

She m. John Paterson, of Prestonhall, in the co. of Edinburgh, eldest son of the last archbishop of Glasgow, by whom she had a dau., Margaret, wife of John Thomson, of Charleton, in the co. of Fife, and a son, James Paterson, a colonel in the army, who, on the deaths without issue of his uncles, John, Master of Sinclair, and the Hon. General James St. Clair, succeeded to the Sinclair estates of Dysart, in the co. of Fife, and Rosslyn, in the co. of Edinburgh. He was the undoubted heir of line of the Earls of Orkney and Lords Sinclair, and became St. Clair of Sinclair and Dysart. Dying unm. in 1789, he was s. in the representation of the Sinclairs, Earls of Orkney, and Lords Sinclair, by the descendant and heir of his only sister, Margaret, who m. in 1744, John Thomson, of Charleton, in the co. of Fife. The dau. and heir of this marriage, Grizel Maria Thomson, heiress of Charleton, m. Colonel John Anstruther, 2nd son of Sir Philip Anstruther, 2nd Bart. of Balcaskie, by Catherine Hay, dau. of Lord Alexander Hay, son of John, 1st Marquess of Tweeddale, by Lady Jean Scott, dau. of Walter, Earl of Buccleugh. The son of this marriage, John Anstruther, assumed the additional name of Thomson on inheriting his mother's estate of Charleton. He was representative of the Earls of Orkney and Lords Sinclair. He m. Clementina, only dau. of the Rt. Hon. William Adam, of Blair Adam, baron of exchequer, lord chief commissioner of the Jury Court in Scotland, lord-lieutenant of the co. of Kinross, by the Hon Eleanor Elphinstone, dau. of Charles, 10th Lord Elphinstone. His son, John Anstruther Thomson, now of Charleton, is representative of the Earls of Orkney and Lords Sinclair, and heir of line of the 10th Lord Sinclair (see Anstruther, Bart.).

2. Catherine, wife of Sir John Erskine, Bart. of Alva, and mother of Sir Henry Erskine, Bart., who, by his wife, Janet Wedderburn, sister to the Lord Chancellor, Lord Loughborough, Earl of Rosslyn, had issue, Sir James Erskine, Bart., who s. his maternal uncle as 2nd Earl of Rosslyn, and s. by a special destination to the estates of Dysart and Rosslyn on the death of his father's cousin, Colonel St. Clair, of Sinclair and Dysart. He thereupon assumed the additional surname of St. Clair. From him descend the Earls of Rosslyn.

3. Mary, m. as 2nd wife of Sir William Baird, 1st Bart. of Newbyth, and d.s.p. 23 Oct. 1756.

4. Elizabeth, m. David, 3rd Earl of Wemyss, and had issue, two daus., 1. Elizabeth, Countess of Sutherland, and mother of William, 17th Earl of Sutherland; 2. Mary, wife of James, 8th Earl of Moray.

Henry, 10th Lord Sinclair, dying as aforesaid in 1723, was s. in the Sinclair estates by his eldest son,

John Sinclair, Master of Sinclair, who, having been engaged in the Rebellion in 1715, was attainted, and never assumed the title of Lord Sinclair. He m. 1st, Lady Margaret Stewart, dau. of James, 5th Earl of Galloway, and widow of 5th Earl of Southesk; and 2ndly, Amelia, dau. of Lord George Murray, and sister to the 3rd Duke of Atholl. Dying without issue in 1750, his brother,

James Sinclair, s. to the representation of the family. He was a general in the army, and a distinguished diplomatist. He or his brother, the Master of Sinclair, in 1735, purchased the ancient ancestral Castle of Rosslyn from the last heir of that cadet branch, and added it to the family estates. He m. Janet (who d. 1766), youngest dau. of the Hon. Sir David Dalrymple, of Hailes, Bart., and widow of Sir John Baird, 2nd Bart. of Newbyth, and d.s.p. 30 Nov. 1762, when the estates went to his nephew and heir, Colonel James Paterson St. Clair, and the attainder came to an end by the extinction of the estate-tail to which the attainted Master of Sinclair belonged, and the succession of a member of the house of Herdmanston who did not share in the descent from the Sinclairs of Roslin.

* As this charter does not specifically assert that there had been a resignation by Henry, Lord Sinclair, of his title, Mr. Riddell suggested a doubt whether such resignation could be presumed. If not, his inference was, that while a new title was created in 1677, with the precedence of the old, the original title continued to exist, the right to it being either in the heir male, the Earl of Caithness, or in the heir of line, Mr. Anstruther Thomson.

The St. Clairs of Herdmanston derive their descent from Henry St. Clair, who was "vicecomes" of Richard de Morville, Constable of Scotland. In 1162, Henry St. Clair had a charter of the lands of Herdmanston, which have ever since continued in the family. Like his namesake and contemporary of Rosslyn, Sir William St. Clair, of Herdmanston, was the companion in arms of King ROBERT BRUCE; who, on account of his heroic services at the battle of Bannockburn, presented him with a sword, on the broad-side of which were engraved the words "Le Roi me donne, St. Clair me porte." SIR JOHN ST. CLAIR, of Herdmanston, who lived in 1389, m. Elizabeth Polwarth, heiress of Polwarth. His grandson, Sir John St. Clair, of Herdmanston and Polwarth, who lived in 1444, had two sons,

1. Sir John St. Clair, of Herdmanston and Polwarth, whose two daus. and co-heirs carried large estates into the families of Hume of Wedderburne and Hume, Earl of Marchmont.
2. Sir William St. Clair, of Herdmanston, who carried on the line of the family.

His descendant in the 6th generation, Sir John St. Clair, of Herdmanston, m Elizabeth, dau. of Sir John Sinclair, Bart. of Stevenson, by whom he had issue,

1. John St. Clair, who m. Catherine Sinclair, Mistress of Sinclair only dau. of John Sinclair, 9th Lord Sinclair, and sole heir of his title and estates. Their only surviving son, Henry St. Clair, was in right of his mother, heir to her father the 9th Lord Sinclair, and he became accordingly 10th Lord Sinclair. In 1677, he, as already stated, got a confirmatory patent of the peerage, with remainder to the family of Herdmanston. His descendants have been already detailed. 2. Robert, who had no male issue.
3. George, whose issue failed.
4. MATTHEW, mentioned in one of the limitations of the above charter of 1677.

Lineage—The Sitwells are descended from the Hallamshire family of Del Wode, de Boys, or de Bosco, which intermarried early in the 14th century with the Lords of Midhope and of Barnby, and held lands in the parish of Eckington. A small portion of the park at Renishaw has been in the possession of the Sitwells for 500 years, and the arms are identical with those of the Stutevilles, Lords of Eckington. Through the marriage of William Sitwell with Mary Reresby, in 1693, the Sitwells are the sole representatives of the Reresbys of Thribergh, whose ancestor Hugh Fitz Osbern was a baron in Cheshire in 1086. In 1301 Simon Sitewell, of Ridgeway, in Eckington, was found son and heir to a certain Walter de Boys, who had d. on his way to the Holy Land; and in 1310 Roger Cytewelle was one of the founders of the guild of St. Mary of Eckington.

Robert Sytwell, gentleman, of Staveley Netherthorpe (son of William, by Elizabeth, dau., and co-heiress of Thomas Patte, and grandson of Robert Sytwell, son of Roger, living 1424, who is presumed to have been son of the fourth John Cytewelle) subscribed £25 against the Armada and with two others founded a grammar school at Netherthorpe. After his death in 1599, his widow, Elizabeth Sytwell, m. Roland Eyre, of Hassop, ancestor of the titular Earls of Newburgh

Francis Sitwell, of Renishaw, high sheriff 1672, who m. Katherine, sister of William Sacheverell, of Barton and Morley (a very distinguished orator and statesman), and had a son,

The only son,

Lineage—In the reign of DAVID II., in 1358, a grant of the lands and barony of Carnegie, in Forfarshire, was made by Walterus de Maule to JOHN DE BALINHARD, who afterwards took the name of DE CARNEGIE. The charter runs thus:—"Quam quondam W. de Maule fecit et concessit Joanni filio et heredi quondam Joannis filii Christini, filii Joannis de Balinhard," &c. This last-named John was he who died c. 1275. Of the origin of the De Balinhards we have no record, all the early family charters having perished when the house of Kinnaird was burnt, in 1452. The lands of Balinhard are near Arbroath, in Forfarshire.

GOCELYNUS DE BALINHARD witnesses several charters, etc. (undated, but, by collateral evidence, drawn out between 1204 and 1235), in the Arbroath and St. Andrew's chartularies; of his relationship, however, there is no proof.

JOHN DE BALINHARD, to whom the grant of the lands of Carnegie was made, and who afterwards took the name of CARNEGIE, was great-grandson of JOHN DE BALINHARD, who died c. 1275. He d. in 1370, and was s. by his eldest son, John de Carnegie of that ilk, whose line ended about 1530, when Sir Robert Carnegie, of Kinnaird (see below), became head of the family.

DUTHAC DE CARNEGIE (presumed to be 2nd son or nephew of the first-named John de Carnegie, though proof of actual relationship is wanted owing to the burning of the charters in 1452), acquired part of the lands of Kinnaird, in Forfarshire, in 1401, and subsequently obtained from Robert, Duke of Albany, governor of Scotland, a charter, dated 21 Feb. 1409, confirming "Duthaco de Carnegy, omnes et singulas terras villæ de Kynnard, ac superioritatem brasinæ ejusdem," on the resignation of Mariota de Kynnard. Duthacus de Carnegie fell at the battle of Harlaw, in 1411, leaving an infant son,

WALTER DE CARNEGIE, of Kinnaird, who took part against the Earl of Crawford, at the battle of Brechin, 18 May, 1452, when his adherents were defeated by the royal troops under the command of the Earl of Huntly; and Walter de Carnegie's house of Kinnaird was burnt by Crawford in retaliation. Walter Carnegie, of Kinnaird, and John Carnegie of that ilk appear as jurors in the arrangement of marches in Menmuir in 1450, and in other transactions about that period. He d. in 1479, leaving a son,

JOHN DE CARNEGIE, of Kinnaird, who, 4 Nov. 1480, had a grant from his cousin, David, Earl of Crawford, of a life-rent out of the lands of Glenesk; and dying in 1508, left a son, by his wife, a lady of the name of Vaus,

JOHN DE CARNEGIE, of Kinnaird, who fell at the battle of Flodden, 9 Sept. 1513, leaving by his wife, Euphame Strachan, a dau. Janet, m. William Maule, of Boath, and a son,

SIR ROBERT CARNEGIE, of Kinnaird, who had various charters of lands in several counties. He was appointed one of the senators of the College of Justice, 4 July, 1547; was sent to England next year, to treat for the redemption of the Earl of Huntly, chancellor of Scotland, taken at the battle of Pinkie, and was knighted on his return. He was ambassador to France, 1550; had a great hand in persuading the Duke of Chatelherault to resign the regency to Mary of Lorrain; was a commissioner to treat with the English, 1555 and 1557; was sent by the Lords of the Congregation in 1559, to France, to explain their views to Queen MARY; and d. 5 Jan. 1565. It is stated by some writers that he and his predecessors were cup-bearers to the kings of Scotland, but of this there is no proof. By Margaret his wife, dau. of Guthrie of Lunan, he had issue,

1. JOHN (Sir), of Kinnaird, a man of great talents and worth, to the last a faithful and loyal subject to Queen MARY; he had charters to John, son and heir-apparent of Robert Carnegy, of Kinnaird, and to Agnes Wood his wife, of the lands of Erlisfield, in Aberdeenshire, 3 Dec. 1546; to them of Balbardy, in Fife, and Sundertheres, in Forfarshire, 4 Oct. 1548; and, penult., Feb. 1549-50. Barony of Stafford.

SIR WILLIAM HOWARD, VISCOUNT STAFFORD, K.B., 3rd son of Thomas, Earl of Arundel, Surrey and Norfolk (see NORFOLK, D.), b. 30 Nov. 1614; m. by licence, dated 11 Oct. 1637, Mary, sister and sole heir of Henry, 5th Baron Stafford. She was descended from Henry, 1st Baron Stafford, so created 4 Nov. 1547, with limitation to heirs male (extinct 1640), who was only son of the attainted Edward, Duke of Buckingham, and 9th Baron Stafford (created by writ 6 Feb. 1298-9). Sir William Howard and Mary, his wife, were created 12 Sept. 1640, Baron and Baroness Stafford, with remainder to the heirs male of their bodies, failing which to the heirs of their bodies. His lordship was advanced to the Viscounty of Stafford 11 Nov. following, with remainder to the heirs male of his body. His wife was created Countess of Stafford for life, 5 Oct. 1688, and d. 23 Jan. 1693-4. Lord Stafford was unjustly attainted and beheaded 29 Dec. 1680, when all his honours became forfeited. His son,

HENRY, 1ST EARL OF STAFFORD, so created 5 Oct. 1688, with remainder failing male heirs of his body to his brothers in like manner. He m. 3 April, 1694, Claude Charlotte, dau. of Philibert, Count de Gramont. She d. 14 May, 1739. He d.s.p. 27 April, 1719, and was s. by his nephew,

WILLIAM, 2ND EARL OF STAFFORD, m. about 1718, his cousin, Anne, dau. of George Holman, of Warkworth, Northants. She d. 21 May, 1725. He d. Jan. 1733-4, leaving (with several daus., who all d.s.p. before 1807) an only son,

WILLIAM MATTHIAS, 3RD EARL OF STAFFORD, b. 24 Feb. 1718-9; m. 8 July, 1743, Henrietta, dau. of Richard Cantillon. He d.s.p. 28 Feb. 1750-1. His widow m. 2ndly, 11 Oct. 1759, Robert, 1st Earl of Farnham, and d. 30 Aug. 1761. He was s. by his uncle,

But the barony (which was also under attainder since 1678) devolved de jure on the sisters of the 3rd Earl, who all d.s.p. before 1807, and then on the descendants of his only sister,

MARY STAFFORD HOWARD, who m. Francis Plowden, of Plowden, Salop. He d. April, 1712. She d. 26 April, 1765, leaving an eldest dau. and (eventually) heir,

MARY PLOWDEN, m. as below 1733, SIR GEORGE JERNINGHAM, 5th Bart. He d. 21 Jan. 1774. She d. Sept. 1785, leaving an eldest son,

SIR WILLIAM JERNINGHAM, 6th Bart., m. 16 June, 1767, Hon. Frances Dillon, dau. of Henry, 11th Viscount Dillon. She d. 1 March, 1825. He d. 14 Aug. 1809, leaving an eldest son,

SIR GEORGE WILLIAM JERNINGHAM, 7th Bart., who s. to the Barony of Stafford 1824, on the reversal of attainder (1680) of his ancestor William, Viscount Stafford (see below).

Lineage—The paternal line of the present house of Stafford is stated to have been originally Danish, and the name JERNEGAN. Wever, in his Ancient Funeral Monuments, says: "This name hath been of exemplarie note before the Conquest." Bloomfield's History of Norfolk commences the pedigree of the Jerninghams with

JERNEGAN, or JERNINGHAM, who was settled at Horham-Jernegan, Suffolk, in the reigns of King STEPHEN and King HENRY II., and dying 1182, was s. by his son,

SIR HUBERT FITZJERNEGAN, Knt. of Horham-Jernegan, who d. in 1203, and was s. by his son,

SIR HUBERT JERNEGAN, Knt., who had been involved in the insurrection of the barons against King JOHN, but on the accession of HENRY III., in 1216, he submitted, and obtained his pardon. He was s. by his eldest surviving son,

SIR WILLIAM JERNEGAN, who was s. by his brother,

SIR HUGH JERNEGAN. This gentleman having, in 1244, made an exchange with his mother, transferred to that lady the messuage of Horham-Jernegan, and removed the residence of his own family to Stonham-Jernegan. He was s. by his son,

SIR WALTER JERNEGAN, of Stonham-Jernegan, who m. Isabella, dau. of Sir Peter Fitzosbert, of Somerley Town, in Suffolk, and sister and co-heiress of her brother, Sir Roger (who was summoned, with about sixty other persons, 8 June, 1294 (22 EDWARD I.), to attend the king, wherever he might be, to advise on the affairs of the realm; but it is doubtful whether that summons can be deemed a regular writ of summons to parliament constituting a barony). This lady was the widow of Sir Henry de Walpole, of Walpole and Houghton, Norfolk. Sir Walter d. about the 31st year of EDWARD I., and was s. by his son,

SIR PETER JERNEGAN, of Somerley Town, who, at the decease of his mother, succeeded as co-heir to her portion of the extensive possessions of the Fitzosbert family. From this Sir Peter we pass over a long line of gallant and distinguished personages to his descendant,

SIR HENRY JERNINGHAM, of Huntingfield and Wingfield, in Suffolk, and of Costessey, in Norfolk, who was the first among the Suffolk and Norfolk knights that declared opeuly for Queen MARY on the demise of EDWARD VI., in the year 1553, for which important service he was constituted by her Majesty, immediately after her accession, vice-chamberlain, capt. of the guard, master of the horse and of the household, and one of the privy council. Sir Henry also obtained grants from the Queen of several large manors in Norfolk, Suffolk, Herefordshire, and Gloucestershire, particularly those of Costessey, in Norfolk, and Wingfield Castle in Suffolk. The former he made the chief place of residence of the family, having rebuilt the mansion, and it has so continued down to the present time. Sir Henry entertained Queen ELIZABETH there in her progress to Norfolk; but his adhesion to the ancient faith seems to have been a bar to any favour at court during that Queen's reign. He m. Frances, dau. of Sir George Baynham, of Clowerwall, co. Gloucester, and heiress to her maternal uncle, Sir Anthony Kingston, and dying in 1572, was s. by his eldest son,

HENRY JERNINGHAM, of Costessey Hall, who m. 1st, Eleanor, dau. of William, Lord Dacre, of Gillesland, and granddau., maternally, of George, 4th Earl of Shrewsbury, by whom he had five sons and a dau. He m. 2ndly, Frances, dau. and co-heiress of his cousin, Sir John Jernegan, of Somerley Town, and widow of Sir Thomas Bedingfeld, by whom he had one son and a dau. He d. in 1619, and was s. by his eldest son,

Sir Henry Jerningham, 1st Bart., of Costessey, who was created a baronet 16 Oct. 1621. Sir Henry m. Eleanor, dau. of Thomas Throckmorton, of Throckmorton, co. Worcester, by Margaret his wife, dau. and co-heir of William Whorwood, attorney-gen. to HENRY VIII. He had issue,

1. JOHN, who m. in 1612, Mary, dau. of Sir Francis Moore, Bart. of Fawley, Berks, and dying in the lifetime of his father, left,
   1. HENRY (Sir), 2nd bart.
   1. Frances, m. Philip Crambleton.
   2. Dorothy, m. Thomas Pegge.
2. William, m. Mary, eldest dau. of Francis Barnard, and relict of Hugh Lee, and of John Yonge.
3. Thomas (Sir), knighted for his gallantry at the Isle of Rhyé, in 1627.
1. Catherine, m. in 1624, Francis Saunders.

This gentleman suffered severely during the civil wars. In the Usurpation, the park at Costessey was let down, and the deer destroyed, the mansion, with the domain, let to a farmer, and a considerable part of the buildings was suffered to fall into decay. Sir Henry d. in 1646, and was s. by his grandson,

Sir Henry Jerningham, 2nd Bart., who m. Mary, dau. of Benedict Hall, of High Meadow, co. Gloucester, and dying in 1680, was s. by his only surviving son,

Sir Francis Jerningham, 3rd Bart., who m. Anne, dau. of Sir George Blount, Bart. of Sodington, co. Worcester, by whom he had seven sons and two daus.; and dying in 1730, was s. by his eldest son,

Sir John Jerningham, 4th Bart., b. 1678; m. 1704, Margaret, dau. of Sir Henry Bedingfeld; but dying s.p. 14 June, 1737, was s. by his brother,

Sir George Jerningham, 5th Bart., b. in 1680. This gentleman m. in 1733, Mary, eldest dau. and eventual heiress of Francis Plowden, by Mary, dau. of the Hon. John Stafford Howard, younger son of the unfortunate Sir William Howard, Viscount Stafford (and sister and heiress of John Paul Stafford Howard, 4th and last Earl of Stafford, who d. in 1762, when the earldom created in 1688 expired), by whom he had surviving issue,

1. WILLIAM (Sir), 6th bart.
2. Edward, a man of letters and distinguished in literature.
3. Charles, a general officer in the French service, and knight of Malta and St. Louis; d. 25 Nov. 1814.

Sir George d. 21 Jan. 1774, and was s. by his eldest surviving son, STAPLETON.

Sir Miles Talbot Stapleton, 9th Bart., of the Leeward Islands, b. 26 May, 1893; s. his uncle 1899.

Lineage—The family of Stapleton, which derived its surname from a town in the county of York, is no less famous for the gallant warriors it produced in different eras, than by the dignities and honours conferred upon them by the sovereigns under whose rule they had the good fortune to flourish. Amongst even the Knights of the Garter, upon the institution of that noble order, we find a person of the name and family.

They subsequently transplanted themselves into Ireland, and enjoyed a considerable estate in Tipperary until the reign of Charles I., when John Edmund Stapleton, of Thorlesbegg, being completely ruined by his adhesion to the royal cause, the family sought new fortune in the different foreign lands of Europe. Some went into Spain, where they attained high military rank; others into France, and there also, adopting the soldier's profession, became eminent in arms. Of the latter, a branch acquired a large estate at Dervalliers, near Nantes, in Bretagne, and bore the title of Counts of Tréves.

Sir John Stapleton, Knt., settled in Ireland, temp. Henry II., and from him we pass to his lineal descendant,

She d.s.p. 21 April, 1907.

Lineage—There has been much controversy about the origin and early history of this family; Sir Henry Steuart (the 1st baronet), relying on an ancient family history in manuscript written up by successive owners of Allanton, the original MS. of which was unfortunately lost in the 18th century, maintained the descent from Sir Robert Stewart of Daldowie, said to be 6th son of Sir John Stewart of Bonkyl (the 2nd son of Alexander, 6th Lord High Steward of Scotland), the progenitor of the Stewarts of Lennox, Darnley, and Castlemilk; while Mr. Andrew Stuart of Torrance and Mr. John Riddell held that there was no proof of the existence of Sir Robert, or of his four successors. The views of Mr. Robertson and Mr. Riddell appeared as contributions to the early volumes of Blackwood's Magazine, and have been published separately under the title of "The Saltfoot Controversy." According to Mr. Riddell the first recorded ancestor was

James Stewart, styled by Robertson "of Daldowie and Allanton," who had issue,

Lineage—All our antiquaries coincide in attaching a long and distinguished line of ancestors to this family, and in giving it an Anglo-Saxon origin; but they differ as to the identity of its founder, some alleging him to have been Sir Alan Gower, Lord of Stittenham, in Yorkshire, said to have been sheriff of the county temp. WILLIAM I.; whilst others name William Fitz-Guyer, of Stittenham, who was charged with a mark for his lands in the sheriff's accounts, anno 1167. Brydges' Collins, vol. II., p. 441. In more than a hundred years afterwards (towards the close of the 13th century) we find

SIR JOHN GOWER, one of the persons of note, summoned to be at Carlisle, with horse and arms, on the feast of the Nativity of St. John the Baptist to march against the Scots; and again, in the following year, the same personage is summoned for a like purpose, to proceed to Berwick. After Sir John comes

LAWRENCE GOWER, who obtained the king's pardon in the 7th EDWARD II. for having been concerned with the Earl of Lancaster in the murder of Piers Gaveston at Blacklow Hill, 19 June, 1312. This Lawrence was s. by SIR NICHOLAS GOWER, who was returned one of the knights of the shire, co. York, in the 12th EDWARD III. to a great council summoned by Edward the Black Prince, then guardian of the realm, and held at Northampton, for which service, being in attendance fourteen days, he received the sum of £5 12*s.* In the 24th of the same monarch we find Sir Nicholas obtaining the king's permission to go to Rome, with six valets and seven horses in his retinue; and in 1351, he was commissioned to investigate some outrage committed upon Hugh, archbishop of Damascus, at Newstead, near Boland. Earldom of Sutherland.

It is stated by some Scottish writers that the Earldom of Sutherland is the most ancient in North Britain, and that it was originally created in 1057. It is certainly rivalled in antiquity only by the famous Earldom of Mar, since it has descended through more than twenty generations to its present possessor, with the distinction of an unbroken line. Douglas, in his Peerage of Scotland, deduces the descent of this illustrious House from Freskin, a person of note in the reign of DAVID I., who received from that generous prince the lands of Strathbrock, co. Linlithgow, and, before 1153, those of Sutherland. He is said to have attained eminence by the skill and courage he displayed in suppressing the insurrection of the Moray men in 1130, and to have been rewarded for those services by the grant of some of the most fertile of the lowlands of Moray. Of the three sons of Freskin, William, the 2nd, was a trusted and constant attendant of King WILLIAM I.; he got the Moray estates on the death of his father in 1171. The eldest son, Hugh, s. to the more extensive territory of Sutherland, and granted the lands of Skelbo and others to his cousin Gilbert, archdeacon of Moray, afterwards bishop of Catania, which included modern Caithness. Hugh Freskin d. in 1214. His son,

WILLIAM, styled Dominus de Sutherlandia, 1st Earl of Sutherland, according to existing documents, took a prominent part in the suppression of Gillescop's insurrection in 1223, and it was on this occasion that the gratitude of ALEXANDER II. raised William to the Earldom of Sutherland before 1236. He confirmed the grant by his father of the lands of Skelbo, and, dying in 1248, was s. by his son,

WILLIAM, 2nd Earl of Sutherland. In 1275 he made a compact with the bishop as to lands in dispute. He was at Scone in 1284, when the royal succession was settled, and d. about 1307. He was s. by his son,

WILLIAM, 3rd Earl of Sutherland, who was with Bruce at Bannockburn, 1314, and signed letter of independence to the Pope, 1320. He d. 1327, and was s. by his brother,

KENNETH, 4th Earl of Sutherland, who m. Lady Mary, dau. of the Earl of Mar, and fell at Halidon Hill, 1333, leaving issue,

1. WILLIAM, 5th earl.
2. Nicholas, ancestor of the SUTHERLANDS of Duffus.
1. Eustachia, m. Gilbert Moray, of Culbin.

The elder son,

WILLIAM, 5th Earl of Sutherland, m. Margaret, dau. of King ROBERT BRUCE, and sister of DAVID II., who, by charter in 1345, raised the Earldom of Sutherland into a regality. The earl d. in 1370, and his eldest son JOHN having d. in England while a hostage for King DAVID II., in 1361, he was s. by his second son, named, probably after his maternal grandfather,

ROBERT, 6th Earl of Sutherland, who lived in times much troubled by local clan feuds. He m. Mabel Dunbar, dau. of John, Earl of Moray, and granddau. of the heroic Agnes Randolph, Countess of Moray and March. He d. in 1389, and was s. by his son, NICHOLAS, 7th Earl of Sutherland. He m. a dau. of the Lord of the Isles, and, after a short and warlike career, d. in 1399, leaving three sons, from the second of whom descended the family of Sutherland of Berriedale, and from the third the Sutherlands of Forse. The eldest son,

ROBERT, 8th Earl of Sutherland, was a hostage for King JAMES I. in 1427. He m. Lady Margaret Stuart, dau. of the Earl of Buchan, and d. at Dunrobin, 1442. He was s. by his son,

JOHN, 9th Earl of Sutherland, who m. Margaret (celebrated for her great beauty), dau. of Sir William Baillie of Lamington, by whom he had issue, with two daus., a son,

JOHN, 10th Earl of Sutherland, who s. in 1460. He m. Fingole, dau. of Celestine of the Isles, brother of the Earl of Ross, and by her, who was drowned while attempting to cross the ferry of Unes, he had a son,

JOHN, 11th Earl of Sutherland, who d.s.p., and was s. by his only sister,

ELIZABETH, Countess of Sutherland, who, 3 Oct. 1514, was served and returned heir of her brother as Countess of Sutherland in her own right, being then the wife of the Hon. Adam Gordon, 2nd son of George, Earl of Huntly, who took the courtesy title of Earl of Sutherland. In 1527 she, with his consent, resigned the earldom in favour of their eldest son, ALEXANDER, who predeceased her in 1529. The Countess d. at Aboyne Castle in Sept. 1535, having had issue by her husband, who d. 17 March, 1537, four sons,

2. John, whose only child m. George Gordon of Cochlarachie.
3. Adam, fell at the battle of Pinkie, 10 Sept. 1547, unm.
4. Gilbert, m. Isabel Sinclair, dau. of the Laird of Dunbeath. This unhappy lady will be mentioned presently as the destroyer of the 12th earl and his countess.

The eldest son,

ALEXANDER, Master of Sutherland, m. Lady Helen Stewart, eldest dau. of John, 4th Earl of Atholl. He had issue,

1. JOHN, 12th earl.

2. Beatrice, m. William Sinclair, of Dunbeath.

The elder son,

JOHN, 12th Earl of Sutherland, was one of the nobles who accompanied the Queen Regent to France in Sept. 1550. On a charge, however, of complicity in the Earl of Huntly's rebellion in 1562, his titles and estates were forfeited and he retired to Flanders, where he won universal popularity and esteem. His forfeiture was rescinded, 19 April, 1565, and he d. in July, 1567, under tragical circumstances. While at Helmisdale Castle, on a visit to his uncle Gilbert's widow, Isabel Sinclair, whose only child was heir to the Sutherland earldom after the reigning peer and his son Alexander, that lady, in her eagerness to see her boy possessed at once of wealth and dignity, attempted to destroy her guests by means of poison, which she mixed with the ale that was served at supper. The earl's heir escaped in consequence of his fortunate detention at a hunting party, for the earl, having fallen ill, and suspecting poison to be the cause of his sufferings, forbade his son, on his late return home, to eat of the supper which had been kept for him. The earl and countess returned to Dunrobin, where they both d. five days afterwards, while their treacherous kinswoman, after being tried for murder and sentenced to death, escaped execution by destroying herself in the prison of Edinburgh, in Aug. 1567. The 12th earl, who was called "the Good Earl John," m. 1st, Lady Elizabeth Campbell, only dau. of Colin, 3rd Earl of Argyll, and widow of the Earl of Moray, known as the "Regent"; 2ndly, Lady Helen Stewart, dau. of John, 3rd Earl of Lennox, and relict of William, 6th Earl of Errol; and 3rdly, Marion, dau. of George, 4th Lord Seton, and widow of John, 4th Earl of Menteith, and left issue by his 2nd wife, a son, ALEXANDER, 13th Earl of Sutherland, b. in 1552, who, during his minority, was left in the care of George, Earl of Caithness, an autocratic nobleman, who carried the young earl away and m. him, at 16, to his own dau., Barbara Sinclair, a woman of 32. Alexander, however, divorced this unsuitable wife in 1573, and in the Dec. of that year, m. Lady Jean Gordon, dau. of George, 4th Earl of Huntly, Lady Jean having been previously m. to James Hepburn, Earl of Bothwell, who divorced her to make way for his tragical marriage with the ill-fated Queen MARY. By this lady, who m. 3rdly, Alexander Ogilvy of Boyne, and d. aged 84, 14 May, 1629, the earl, who d. 6 Dec. 1594, had, to survive infancy, three sons, of whom the second, Sir Robert Gordon of Gordonstoun, is celebrated as the historian of his house. The elder son,

JOHN, 14th Earl of Sutherland, b. 20 July, 1576, m. in Feb. 1600, Agnes, dau. of Alexander, 4th Lord Elphinstone, by whom (who d. 18 Sept. 1617) he had issue,

The earl d. 11 Sept. 1615, and was s. by his son,

JOHN, 15th Earl of Sutherland, b. 4 March, 1609. His lordship was appointed keeper of the privy seal of Scotland in 1649. He m. 1st, 14 Feb. 1632, Lady Jean Drummond, only child of James, 1st Earl of Perth; and 2ndly, 24 Jan. 1639, Anne, eldest dau. of Hugh, Lord Lovat. By his 1st wife, who d. 29 Dec. 1637, he had four sons, who all predeceased him except the 2nd, George. The earl d. aged 70, in 1679, and was s. by his son,

Preston Grange, co. Haddington, M.P., sister of Helen, Countess of Glasgow, and of Jean, Viscountess Arbuthnot, and by her (who d. 21 March, 1765) had issue,

1. John, succeeded his father as Lord Strathnaver, but d. 13 Dec. 1720.
2. WILLIAM, 18th earl.
3. George, d. unm. 13 March, 1736.

He and his wife were buried in one grave at Holyrood Abbey on the following 9th August. They had two daus. only,

1. Catherine, b. 24 May 1764; d. 3 Jan. 1766.
2. ELIZABETH, of whom presently.

On the death of the earl, a contest for succession to the earldom commenced between Sir Robert Gordon of Gordonstoun and George Sutherland, of Forse, who each asserted a better right to the honours than that inherited by the Lady Elizabeth. The question was brought before the House of Lords, and on the 21st March, 1771, their lordships decided it in favour of the deceased earl's only surviving dau.,

Lineage—This very ancient family derives its surname from Swinburne Castle, in Northumberland, which it possessed from so remote a period, that (although Sir William Dugdale notes them not as such) the SWINBURNES of Swinburne Castle have been esteemed feudal lords.

SIR ADAM DE SWINBURNE, representative of the family temp. EDWARD II., left a son, Adam de Swinborne, of Swinborne, who d.s.p., and three daus., viz.,

1. CHRISTIAN, m. John de Widdrington, and thus Swinburne Castle, the old seat of the Swinburnes, passed to the Widdringtons, from whom it was purchased in 1695, by T. Riddell, of Fenham, and is now the property of that gentleman's descendant, the present THOMAS RIDDELL, of Felton Park and Swinburne Castle.
2. BARBARA, m. John de Strivelyn, of Built Castle, Cumberland.
3. ELIZABETH, m. Walter Heron, of Haddiston.

The family immediately before us, which springs from a common progenitor with the SWINBURNES of Swinburne Castle, and has preserved a male succession, derives directly from Lineage—Extant documents, in Latin and in English, prove that some of the family of Sykes were located at Flockton, in the parish of Thornhill, near Leeds, about the year 1200, when Agnes del Sicke acquired lands at "Floketon," adjoining those previously held by William del Sicke: that in 1343 (18 EDW. III., John del Syk, of "Fflokton," conveyed ancestral lands, there, to his son, Michael; that in 1550 (4 EDW. VI.) John Sykys conveyed tenements and land in Flockton, with remainder to his eldest son, Charles, and second son, William; that in 1577 (19 ELIZ.) Charles Sykys, whose wife's name was Christian, sold certain pastures in Nether Flockton: and that some of the descendants of William Sykys, who settled at Leeds as a clothier, held for a considerable period, lands at Flockton.

In 1576 (18 ELIZ.), the wills of Richard and William Sykes, of the Kirkgate in Leeds, clothiers, name William, their father, as surviving: they also mention their brothers, James and Edmund, as living at Leeds. Richard, who was the third son, left (with other issue) a son, Richard, who was among the earlier mayors of Leeds, and founded the great mercantile family of his name. In 1581 (23 ELIZ.), George Sykes, of Vicar Lane and the Kirkgate (born before the commencement of the parish registers), married Elizabeth Hodgson; and their youngest son, George, baptized in 1588, became ancestor of the family of Sykes of Dryglington, near Leeds.

Lineage—The Taaffes are of great antiquity in the counties of Louth and Sligo, and produced in ancient times many distinguished and eminent persons, amongst whom was Sir Richard Taaffe, who d. 1287: his contemporary was the

Sir Nicholas Taaffe, who d. in 1288, leaving two sons, John Taaffe, archbishop of Armagh, who d. in 1306; and

Richard FitzNicholas Taaffe, whose eldest son,

Richard Taaffe, seated at Ballybraggan and Castlelumpnagh, served the office of sheriff of the co. Louth in 1315, and to his custody was committed Hugh de Lacie, the younger, Earl of Ulster, after his condemnation for high treason. From this Richard descended

Sir William Taaffe, Knt. of Harleston, who distinguished himself by his services to the crown during Tyrone's rebellion in 1597; and subsequently maintained his reputation against the Spanish force which landed at Kinsale in 1601. Sir William d. in 1630, and was s. by his only son (by his 2nd wife Ismay, dau. of Sir Christopher Bellew),

Sir John Taaffe, 1st Viscount Taaffe, who was advanced to the peerage of Ireland, 1 Aug. 1628, in the dignities of Baron of Ballymote, and Viscount Taaffe, of Corren, both in the co. Sligo. His lordship m. Anne, dau. of Theobald, 1st Viscount Dillon, by whom he had (with other issue),

1. Theobald (Sir), 2nd viscount and 1st earl.
2. Lucas, a major-gen. in the army, appointed governor of Ross in 1649, to defend that place against Cromwell. He was subsequently obliged to expatriate himself, and served as a colonel in Italy and Spain. He returned, however, and d. in Ireland, s.p.m.
3. Francis, a col. in the rebellion of 1641; m. an Italian lady and left a son, Charles, who d.s.p.
4. Edward, d. unm.
5. William, who m. Margaret, dau. of Connor O'Kennedy Roe, by whom he had, with three daus.,
Francis, who m. Ann, dau of John Crean, of Crean's Castle, in Sligo, and had issue,
(1) Nicholas, 6th viscount.
(1) Anne, m. John Brett, of Rathdoony, co. Sligo.
(2) Mary, m. Theodore Verdon, of Clunigashell; and d.s.p.

His lordship d. in 1642, and was s. by his eldest son,

Theobald, 1st Earl of Carlingford and 2nd Viscount Taaffe, who was advanced to the Earldom of Carlingford, 26 June, 1661. This nobleman espoused zealously the royal cause during the civil wars, and had his estates sequestered by the Usurper. Stafford, but by her (who was m. 2ndly to Randal, 11th Lord Dunsany) had no issue. He d. 31 Dec. 1677, and was s. by his eldest surviving son, Nicholas, 2nd Earl of Carlingford and 3rd Viscount Taaffe, m. Mary, dau. and heir of Humphrey Weld, of Lulworth. He fell at the battle of the Boyne, in 1691, in the command of a regt. of foot, under the banner of King James, and leaving no issue, the honours devolved upon his brother, Francis, 3rd Earl of Carlingford and 4th Viscount Taaffe, the celebrated Count Taaffe of the Germanic Empire.

This eminent personage, who was sent in his youth to the city of Olmütz to prosecute his studies, became first one of the pages of honour to the Emperor FERDINAND, and soon after obtained a captain's commission from CHARLES, 5th Duke of Lorraine, in his own regiment. He was subsequently chamberlain to the emperor, a marshal of the empire, and councillor of the state and cabinet. His lordship was so highly esteemed by most of the crowned heads of Europe, that when he succeeded to his hereditary honours, he was exempted from forfeiture by a special clause in the English act of parliament, 1st WILLIAM and MARY; and in the acts passed in Ireland, 9th of the same reign, to hinder the reversal of divers outlawries and attainders, it was provided, that nothing therein contained should extend to, attaint, or convict of high treason, Nicholas, Earl of Carlingford, or his brother, &c. &c. His lordship, as Count Taaffe, acquired great renown during the war with the Turks in 1738, and attained the acme of his fame by winning the victory of Belgrade. He m. 30 Oct. 1729, Mary Anne, dau. and heiress of Count Spendler, of Dintz, in Upper Austria, a lady of the bedchamber to her imperial and royal majesty, and had issue,

TALBOT DE MALAHIDE.

The Baron Talbot of Malahide (Richard Wogan Talbot), and Lord Malahide, of Malahide, co. Dublin, Ireland; Baron Talbot de Malahide, United Kingdom, hereditary lord-admiral of Malahide and the seas adjoining; J.P. and D.L. co. Dublin, late lieut. 9th Lancers, b. 28 Feb. 1846; s. his father as 5th baron 1883; m. 1st, 26 June, 1873, Emily Harriet, youngest dau. of Sir James Boswell, 2nd bart. of Auchinleck, and by her (who d. 24 Jan. 1898) has a son, ♦JAMES BOSWELL, b. 18 May, 1874.

His lordship m. 2ndly, 10 Dec. 1901, Isabel Charlotte, widow of John Gurney, of Sprowston Hall, Norfolk, and dau. of the late Robert Blake Humfrey, of Wroxham House, Norwich.

Lineage—The castle and lordship of Malahide, on the sea-coast, near Dublin, have been possessed by the family of Talbot from a period contemporary with the first introduction of English government into Ireland, and at this moment they furnish an instance unusually rare, of a baronial estate having continued for upwards of 650 years in the male heirs and name of him on whom it had been originally conferred by HENRY II. It is remarkable, too, that of the ancient seigniorial estates in Ireland, whose lords were vested with the dignity of parliamentary barons, not one can be traced to have been held directly and immediately under the crown but the Lordship of MALAHIDE. In this respect Malahide seems to have been unique in Ireland, and its lords, pursuant to the nature of their original tenure and the terms of their royal charters, never rendered homage, suit, or service, to any but the crown, nor acknowledged any superior but the King of England alone. Richard de Talbott, who is mentioned in Domesday Book, was the common ancestor of the Lords of Malahide and of the Earls of Shrewsbury; and in consequence of the well-known affinity of those two branches, the family in Ireland, by ancient entails and settlements, made the members of the house of Shrewsbury next heirs in remainder to their Irish estates.

RICHARD TALBOT, "Chevalier," was Lord of Malahide in the reign of HENRY II., and after that monarch conferred the dominion of Ireland on his son, Prince (subsequently King) JOHN, Sir Richard obtained a confirmatory grant of his lordship, with Sac and Soc, Tol and Them, infangthef, and the judgement of Water, and of Iron, the Duel, the Pit, the Gallows, and all other the appendages of civil and criminal jurisdictions as possessed by the baronage of that day, to hold to him and his heirs by rendering to the king the service of one archer with a horse and coat-of-mail for ever. Sir Richard had also confirmed to him the advowson of the churcl of Malahide, and having, about the year 1193, presented his brother, Walter Talbot, to that benefice, he died, leaving two sons, Reginald and Adam. The elder,

REGINALD TALBOT, being a minor at his father's decease, the wardship of the estates devolved to the crown; and during his nonage, Walter his uncle, having died, the church became vacant, whereupon Henry de Londres, archbishop of Dublin, then acting as justiciary, or chief governor of Ireland, appointed a clerk to the benefice in right of the king, as is set forth in an ancient inquisition. Reginald soon after died without issue, and was succeeded by his brother and heir,

ADAM TALBOT, Lord of Malahide, whose descent is specifically set forth in some proceedings taken by the crown to protect the estates of the family against certain encroachments of the Archbishop of Dublin. His son and heir was

RICHARD TALBOT, who is entered on the Exchequer roll of 1278, as "Dominus Richardus Talbot," and who by the name of Richard Fitz Adam Talbot, Knt. granted to King EDWARD I., in the year 1286, all wardships, reliefs, marriages, escheats, &c., happening within his Lordship of Malahide; and it further appeared by the same deed, which is enrolled on the Antiquissimæ rolls of Ireland that he settled Malahide on his son

SIR MILO TALBOT, whose wife was Alianore, and who was succeeded by his son,

SIR RICHARD TALBOT, was the associate in arms of Sir John Bermingham. By his wife, Margaret (de Ashebourne), he had a son and heir,

SIR THOMAS TALBOT. On 15 Feb. in the 46th year of EDWARD III., a parliament, or great council, was convoked in Ireland, and the writs of summons to the prelates, peers, &c., are still remaining on the close roll of that year; amongst the peers is "Thomas Talbot, miles." He m. Agnes, sister and heir of William Kenewrick, and had issue two sons. Richard and Thomas. The elder son,

SIR RICHARD TALBOT was sheriff of the co. Dublin; and by his wife, Cecilia (who afterward m. Robert Gallane, and had dower in Clonaghless), left issue a son,

THOMAS TALBOT, a minor at his father's death, who d., leaving a son and heir,

CHRISTOPHER TALBOT, whose guardianship and estates in the cos. of Dublin, Meath, and Kildare, were granted to Sir Thomas Fleming, Baron of Slane, by patent, dated at Westminster, March 1, in the first year of King HENRY IV. Christopher died a minor and without issue, whereupon the lordship devolved on

THOMAS TALBOT, son of Sir Thomas (who was summoned to the great council and parliament in the reign of EDWARD III., as above mentioned). For him, as "Thomas filius Thomæ Talbot militis," homage of two-thirds of Malahide was respited, 12 Nov. 1430; but he died soon after, as it appears that on the 8 Nov. 1432, the king granted to Thomas Cusacke and others the custody of all estates in the several counties of Dublin, Meath, and Kildare, of which he had lately died seised, and which were now vested in the crown by the minority of his son and heir,

RICHARD TALBOT, Lord of Malahide, who m. Matilda, dau. of Christopher, Baron of Killeen. Her ladyship, on the death of Sir Richard, married John Cornewalsh, who was chief-baron in the reign of HENRY VI., and enjoyed with her husband, dower out of the lordships of Galtrim and of Malahide, in right of her two former lords. Sir Richard Talbot, by the said Maud, his wife, left a son and heir,

THOMAS TALBOT, who, on the 15 Nov. in the year 1469, had a patent of privileges conferred on him by the crown, as "Thomas Talbot, Armiger, Dominus de Malahide." On the 15 Nov. 1469, the king granted him a patent as "Thomas Talbot, Armiger, Dominus de Malahide." He was twice married; by his first wife, whose name was Sommerton, he had a son,

1. PETER, who s. him.

By his second wife, Elizabeth Buckley, he had,

Lineage—The family of SANDILANDS take their name from their earliest possession of the lands of Sandilands in Douglasdale. JAMES SANDILANDS, of Sandilands, in 1346, obtained in marriage Alionora, sister of William, 1st Earl of Douglas, and widow of Alexander Bruce, Earl of Carrick, and got from his brother-in-law the lands of Calder, to be held from him. JAMES SANDILANDS, who m. 1384, Princess Joan, dau. of Robert II., and widow successively of Sir John Keith and of Sir John Lyon, of Glamis. He was induced by the influence of Margaret, Countess of Angus and Mar, to renounce his prospect of succession to the unentailed Douglas estates in favour of George, Earl Angus, natural son of that lady by William, 2nd Earl of Douglas, a transaction confirmed by Robert III., in 1397. His son,

JAMES SANDILANDS, of Calder, a hostage for James I. in 1421, became, by the death of James, 2nd Earl of Douglas, at Otterburn, and of Isabel, Countess of Mar, in 1407, heir of line of the Douglas family; and though deprived, as has been seen, of the estates, he and his descendants have ever since quartered the Douglas arms. Lineage—This ancient family derives its surname from the lordship of Trelawny, or Treloen (see Doomsday Book), in the parish of Alternon, Cornwall, which, in the time of EDWARD THE CONFESSOR, was held by its earliest known ancestor,

EDUNI, whose son,

HAMELIN, was likewise the owner of Treloen after the Norman invasion, by a tenure from the Earl of Mortain as found at the General Survey. This Hamelin had a son, Richard, who was succeeded by William, owner of a knight's fee from Reginald de Botrell, whose dau. m. this William's son, John Trelawny. He was succeeded by his son and heir, William m. to Joan Trewynnick. He left issue, John, in the time of EDWARD I., who m. Lucy Serjeaux, dau. of Sir Richard Serjeaux. Under the figure of King HENRY, which formerly stood over the great gate at Launceston, was the distich—

"He that will do ought for me,
Let him love well Sir John Tirlawnee."

By Agnes Trogodeck he had a son, Sir Richard, M.P. for Liskeard, in the 9th HENRY V. Dying without issue male, John (2nd son of Sir John) succeeded him, and was M.P. for Truro (27th HENRY VI.). Lineage—The surname of this family, derived from a place in the co. Northampton, was anciently written Walgrave; and we find, so far back as the year 1205, John de Walgrave serving as sheriff of London. His great-great-grandson,

Sir Richard Walgrave, Knt. of Smallbridge, Suffolk, having represented that shire in the reigns of Edward III. and Richard II., was chosen speaker of the House of Commons in the latter. He d. in 1401, and was s. by his son (by his wife Joan, dau. and heiress of Silvester of Buers, in Suffolk),

Sir Richard Walgrave, Knt., who, succeeding to the inheritance of his mother, was styled Lord of Buers and Silvesters; which Sir Richard, with Lord Clinton, Sir John Howard, and Lord Falconbridge, was appointed, in 1402, to keep the seas; and landing 10,000 men in Brittany, won the town of Conquet and the Isle of Rhé. He m. Jane, dau. and heiress of Sir Thomas Montechensy, of Edwardstown, Suffolk; and dying in 1436, was s. by his son,

Sir William Walgrave, Knt., d. 1461, leaving a son,

Sir Thomas Walgrave, received the honour of knighthood for his valour at Towton Field, 20 March, 1461, the day of the battle. Sir Thomas m. Elizabeth, eldest dau. and co-heiress of Sir John Fray, Knt., lord-chief-baron of the exchequer, by whom he had, with three daus., three sons, 1. William, his successor; 2. Edward, ancestor of the present family; and 3. Richard. Sir Thomas d. in 1500, and was s. by his eldest son; while the 2nd,

Edward Waldegrave, settled at Boreley, in Essex. This gentleman m. Elizabeth, dau. and co-heiress of John Cheyney, of the co. of Devon; and dying in 1500, was s. by his only son,

John Waldegrave, who m. Lora, dau. of Sir John Rochester; and dying 6 Oct. 1514, was s. by his eldest son,

Sir Edward Waldegrave. This gentleman had a grant to himself and his heirs of the manor and rectory of West Haddon, co. Northampton, in the 1st year of Edward VI.; and in the seventh year of the same reign, being a principal officer in the household of the Lady Mary (afterwards queen), he incurred the king's displeasure by refusing to forbid the celebration of mass in her house, and, together with Sir Robert Rochester, his uncle, and Sir Francis Englefield, the two other principal officers, who had offended on the same account, was first committed to the Fleet, 29 Aug., and two days afterwards, sent to the Tower. Sir Edward remained in custody, although permitted to remove to his own house in consequence of indisposition, until the accession of his royal mistress to the throne, when he was recompensed by being sworn of the privy council, constituted master of the great wardrobe, and receiving a grant of the manor of Chewton, in Somersetshire. Sir Edward was subsequently a man of great power during the reign of Mary, but after her decease he was divested of his employments, and committed to the Tower by Elizabeth, where he d. 1 Sept. 1561, leaving two sons and three daus., by his wife, Frances, dau. of Sir Edward Nevil, Knt., and was s. by the elder,

Sir Edward Waldegrave, 1st Bart., Knt., who at the advanced age of seventy took up arms in the royal cause at the breaking out of the civil wars, and was in consequence created a baronet, 1 Aug. 1643. At the impounding of Lord Essex's army in Cornwall, 1644, Sir Edward with his regiment, kept the pass at Saltash; and being charged by the parliamentary horse, in an attempt to break through, he thrice rallied his men, and although twice unhorsed, eventually succeeded in making forty prisoners. This gallant veteran, who continued to distinguish himself in the council and the field, was s. at his decease, by his eldest son (by Eleanor, dau. of Sir Thomas Lovel, of Harling, Norfolk),

SIR THOMAS GREVILLE, of Milcote, assumed the name of COCKSEY, upon inheriting the estates of his grandmother's family. He d.s.p. 14 HENRY VII. Milcote, with the other estates of the Grevilles, devolved upon

JOHN GREVILLE, of Drayton (great-grandson of Lewis of Lodowick Greville, and his wife, Margaret,* sole dau. and heir of Sir Giles Ardene, of Drayton, co. Oxford). This John Greville was one of the justices for the gaol-delivery of Warwick, 15 HENRY VII. He m. Jane, dau. of Sir Humphrey Forster, of Harpedon, co. Oxford, and was s. by his elder son,

SIR EDWARD GREVILLE, of Milcote, a distinguished military character in the reign of HENRY VIII., particularly at the Battle of Spurs. In the 13th of the same king, Sir Edward Greville obtained the wardship of Elizabeth, one of the daus., and at length sole heiress, of Edward Willoughby, only son of Robert, Lord Brooke, and his wife, Elizabeth, one of the daus. and co-heirs of the Lord Beauchamp of Powyk,† which wardship tended in a great degree to the subsequent elevation of the family.    SIR EDWARD GREVILLE, of Milcote and Drayton, m. Joan, dau. of Sir Thomas Bromley, lord chancellor of England, and left several daus. Sir Edward, being in debt, sold his whole estate to Lionel Cranfield, Earl of Middlesex; and the elder branch of the Grevilles became EXTINCT.

The 2nd son,

SIR FULKE GREVILLE, Knt., m. Elizabeth Willoughby, the ward of his father, and the greatest heiress then in England (see BURKE'S Extinct Peerage). The account of this marriage is in a manuscript, entitled The Genealogie, Life, and Death of Robert, Lord Brooke, written in 1644, and in the possession of the Earl of Warwick. "In the days of HENRY VIII. (says the author of the manuscript), I read of Sir Edward Grevil, of Milcote, who had the wardership of Elizabeth, one of the daus. of the Lord Brooke's son. The knight made a motion to his ward, to be married to John, his eldest son, but she refused, saying, that she did like better of Fulke, his 2nd son. He told her that he had no estate of land to maintain her; and that he was in the king's service of warre beyond the seas, and therefore his return was very doubtful. Shee replied and said, that shee had an estate sufficient both for him and for herself, and that she would pray for his safeties and wait for his coming. Upon his returne home, for the worthy services he had performed, he was, by King HENRY, honoured with knighthood; and then married Elizabeth, the dau. of the Lord Brooke's son." By this marriage, the manor of Alcester, and many other fair lordships and lands, came in right of his wife to Sir Fulke, who, seating himself at Beauchamp's Court, and augmenting his large estate by the purchase of sundry lands in the neighbourhood, raised his family to high distinction in the co. of Warwick. Of this marriage there were, with other issue,

* Leland says, "The first notable increase of the landes of Graville of Drailton, cam by one Lewis Graville, who m. Margaret, the dau. and heir of a noble, caulled Syr Giles Ardene."

† Lord Beauchamp of Powyk was descended from Walter de Beauchamp, of Alcester, brother of William, 1st EARL OF WARWICK, of the Beauchamp family; the male line of which family expired with HENRY DE BEAUCHAMP, Earl and Duke of Warwick, in 1445, when the dukedom became extinct, and the earldom devolved upon his grace's only dau. and heiress, Anne de Beauchamp, as Countess of Warwick; but her ladyship d. unm., in four years afterwards, when her aunt Anne Beauchamp, wife of Richard Neville, son of the Earl of Salisbury, became heiress of the family.

In the 2nd of King JAMES's reign he obtained a grant of Warwick Castle, and the gardens and other dependencies about it, and was elevated to the peerage, 29 Jan. 1620-1, by the title of *Lord Brooke, Baron Brooke, of Beauchamp's Court, co. This John Wauchope got a charter of Edmonstone 9 June, 1671, having acquired that estate by his wife Anna, dau. of James Rait, of Edmonstone, by his second wife Anna, dau. of Alexander Hay, of Monkton. Lineage—This surname was assumed from the lands and barony of Wedderburn, Berwick, but at what period is uncertain.

Walter de Wedderburn swore fealty to Edward I. of England at Berwick-on-Tweed, 28 Aug. 1296 (Ragman Roll), while references are also found to John de Wedirburn (bearing the same arms as the present family) in 1364, William de Wedderburn in 1375, 1407, and 1426-52, and others of the name, in the border country. The lands of Wedderburn, co. Berwick, however, passed at an early date (probably by marriage with an heiress) to a branch of the powerful family of Home, and have ever since remained with the Homes of Wedderburn (see Landed Gentry, Milne-Home), from whom descended the Earls of Dunbar and Marchmont, while contemporary with the decline of the Wedderburns in the south of Scotland we find an influential family of the name in the county of Forfar. Thus, in about 1400, four distinct, but closely connected, branches of this family, are found in Dundee. Of these one was that of James Wedderburn and Janet Barry, three of whose sons, James, John, and Robert, were among the earliest Scottish reformers, all having united to produce the famous "Gude and Godlie Ballates," or Wedderburn Psalms, while Robert, sometime vicar of Dundee, was, with little doubt, the author of the remarkable "Complaynt of Scotland." From the eldest of these brothers descended James Wedderburn, bishop of Dunblane, who, as the friend of Archbishop Laud, and a staunch episcopalian, was driven from Scotland in 1638, and retired to Canterbury, where he died in 1639, and was buried in the cathedral there. His elder brother John settled as a physician in Moravia, and left issue, whose descendants are believed to be still flourishing on the continent under the name of Wetterborn. Two other Dundee families were those of Walter Wedderburn, in Welgait, father of Alexander Wedderburn, of Pittormie, co. Fife, and David Wedderburn, in the Murraygait, father of David of Craigie, who m. Helen Lawson, and had issue. Both of these families are, however, now believed to be extinct in male line. The fourth and most important family, long eminent in Dundee, sprang from

Robert Wedderburn, m. Janet, dau. of David Froster in Methven, and d. circa 1518, leaving issue,

1. James, who represented Dundee in parliament 1540. He d. 1544, leaving issue,

Lineage—The territory or "schire" of Wemyss, on the north side of the Firth of Forth, derived its name from the caves in its rocky coast, the walls of which are sculptured with the work of early Christian missionaries, to whom they gave shelter. The family name is derived from the name of the barony, and its possessors are alleged to be descended from a younger son of the Earl of Fife, in the 12th century. The early importance of the family is indicated by the choice of Sir David of Wemyss, in 1290, along with Sir Michael Scott, as one of the magnates who were to convey Margaret, the Maid of Norway, to Scotland, as recorded by Wyntoun.

Sir Michael Wemyss, of Wemyss (1328-42), had with other issue,

1. Sir David, sheriff of Fife, father of another Sir David, a hostage for David II.; having no male issue, he resigned his lands into the hands of the Earl of Fife in favour of his heir male, and d. 1375, leaving a dau., m. Sir Patrick, of Inchmartin, whose dau. and heir, Isabel, m. Sir Alan Erskine, and had two daus., Margaret, m. Sir John Glen, and Isabel, m. Sir John Wemyss, of Reres, heir male of the family.

Sir John Wemyss, of Reres and Kincaldrum, who became representative of the family in 1375, and m. Isabel, dau. and co-heir of Sir Alan Erskine, of Inchmartin, as above. Among other charters from Robert III., he had one in 1392, giving him leave to construct a castle in his lands of Reres, of what strength or height he pleased. He must after this have temporarily swerved from his loyalty, as his castle of Reres was besieged by David, Duke of Rothesay, in 1401. It was at the request of this Sir John that Wyntoun wrote his invaluable "Chronicle." He had issue,

1. David (Sir).

RICHARD, 12th Baron Delvin, had summonses to parliament in the years 1486, 1490, and 1493, and was constituted by the lords justices and council, in 1496, commander and leader in chief of all the forces destined for the defence of the counties of Dublin, Meath, Kildare, and Louth. His lordship was subsequently summoned to parliament in 1498, but failing to appear, he was fined forty shillings for non-attendance. In 1504, Lord Delvin accompanied the Earl of Kildare to the famous battle of Knocktough in Connaught, and was the first to throw a spear into the ranks of the Irish, by which he chanced to kill one of the Burkes. In 1527, he was nominated lord deputy of Ireland, and conducted the public affairs with integrity and honour, until treacherously taken prisoner by O'Connor. That native chieftain having made inroads upon the confines of the Pale, in 1528, Lord Delvin ordered the detention of a yearly rent due to him out of certain carucates of lands in the county of Meath; which procedure led to a conference at the castle of Rathin, belonging to Sir William d'Arcie, when by stratagem the lord deputy was seized and detained prisoner, many of his attendants being slain, wounded, and taken. Walter Wellesley, of Dangan Castle, and Sir Walter Delahide, of Moyclare, were subsequently deputed to expostulate with O'Connor, and to procure his lordship's liberation, but ineffectually, when another lord deputy was appointed to administer the government, and Lord Delvin remained in confinement until O'Connor's pension was restored. His lordship d. 28 Feb. 1537, and was s. by his grandson,

RICHARD, 13th Baron Delvin, who d. in 1562, leaving by Elizabeth, his wife, dau. of Jenico Preston, Viscount Gormanston, a son and heir, CHRISTOPHER, 14th Baron Delvin. This nobleman obtained a commission from the crown, in 1567, authorizing him to extirpate the O'Mores, sons of Ferrasse MacRosse, and their followers; but notwithstanding the zeal his lordship evinced in that service, he was himself sent prisoner to London, in 1580, and committed to the Tower, on suspicion of holding correspondence with the rebels of Leinster; but his innocence being soon afterwards fully established, he was enlarged, and returning to Ireland, was present in Sir John Perrott's parliament, in 1585. In 1588, he obtained a grant of the priory of Fourc, county of Westmeath; and being, in 1593, appointed by commission leader of the forces raised in the county of Westmeath at the general hosting on the hill of Tara, he brought with the Nugents, his kinsmen, twenty horsemen thither; and so acceptable were his services to Queen ELIZABETH, that, by privy seal, 7 May, 1597, she ordered him a grant in fee-farm of so many manors and forfeited lands in the counties of Cavan and Longford at his election as should amount to the crown rent of 100*l.* a year English. But this grant not having been executed during his life, on account of the troubles in Ireland, King JAMES, 10 Aug. 1603, ordered 60*l.* in lands, per annum, to be granted to his widow and son.
